

INGER S HUTTON BIOGRAPHY

Inger S. Hutton was born in Norway, grew up in Canada, and now resides in Everett, Washington. Inger works mainly in watercolor and graphite with attention to fine detail. Her work includes flora, fauna and candid portraiture.

Inger has studied painting with Margaret Davidson and Joseph Lesser at the Gage Academy of Art in Seattle, with fine artist, Albert Rose, and with botanical artist, Louise Smith. She completed the University of Washington's certificate program of Natural Science Illustration. She has written and illustrated a children's book and has created an art book of her paintings depicting the beauty of grand scenery and tiny treasures of Zion National Park.

Inger currently holds membership in the Guild of Natural Science Illustrators and is the curator at the Art Loft Sisters Gallery in Everett.

During the past year Inger has been concentrating on the order Lepidoptera (including moths and butterflies), painting several studies of unique species from around the world.

Inger's work can also be viewed and reached on Facebook, Inger Hutton Artist.
